The cold weather solidified the track, and it was some faster yesterday. Snow fell during the afternoon, and the flur-ries of "the beautiful" made it very dimcult to distinguish the jockey colors when the runners were going up the back stretch. The attendance was limned to bettors, on account of the weather, and the bookmakers got a very satisfactory play. The reporters' stand has been enclosed, and is heated by a grove. A the request of Manager W. J. Josephy, of the Columbus team which is to meet the All-Wheelings in an inter-city match, two copies of the articles of agreement have been made and each club will retain a copy. In the original copy which was returned unsigned by Josephy, he fails to insert the names of the ten Columbus players eligible to compete in the match, and Manager Fette will not sign for Wheelgible to compete in the match, and Manager Fette will not sign for Wheeling until the Columbus man names his players. It is not believed Josephy intends to indulge in any sharp practice, though it has been said that he might want to ring in some of the All-Stars, coon to tour the country, and who are now doing practice work at Columbus. The articles, of course, specify that the teams shall be bona fide residents of Columbus, or Wheeling, and, naturally, Mr. Fette does not care to sign the articles until the Columbus players' names are inserted. Both copies of the articles were sent to Josephy Vesterday, and Fette suggests that Josephy bring both copies to Wheeling unsigned, so he can inspect the Harvest alleys before signing. This is suggested for the reason that the alleys here are an inch short of the regulation length, and it is better that this he known to the Columbus man in advance. It is supposed Josephy will either return the articles signed or come to Wheeling in person and sign them here after looking at the alleys.

their Western tour, which begins the second week in January, next, completed.

Manager Karpf has received encouraging news from all quarters, where the team is booked to play. It is the new applicants for dates that have prevented him from announcing his schedule on December 1, as he expected to.

In spite of all the stories circulated to the effect that the Greater New Yorks would not go out this season, and another that they have disbanded, the team will play 132 games with teams of five men, and almost as many individual and team of two matches. This should prove conclusively that the club who originally helped boom the game in the Western country is still in popular favor.

Manager Karpf has decided not to give out a connected schedule of the trip until within a week of the time for his team to start from home. The press, alley owners and bowlers of each city, however, will be notified at the earliest possible date the time the Easierners will play there.

After a Match for Holiday Week.

Many Wheeling people thought that their chances of ever seeing Oscar Gardner in a ring in this city were poor, in view of Gardner's rise to national prominence by reason of his victory over Sammy Kelly and his great battle with George Dixon, both pulled off in New York, and they will be pleased to learn that the prospects are good for seeing Gardner and a good man face each other in the Metropolitan's Fulton arena some time during the holidays.

The ever-willing Gardner has agreed to tackle any man in the featherweight class the club can secure, and states that Wheeling is his favorite town, and that though the purse be comparatively small for him. The Metropolitan will throw out hooks for Jack McCleiland and Ed Lenny, of Philadelphia, who got the best of McCleiland in a twenty round contest at Youngsiown Monday night, although the preferee called it a draw. Tommy Hogan is another man who will be given a whirl. Either of the trio would draw well, and it is hoped the club will succeed in getting Oscar a worthy foeman. worthy foeman,

AMUSEMENTS.

Thomas H. Davis and William T. Keogh seem to have a faculty of choose Reogn seem to have a facting of choosing auspicious names for their plays. A particularly happy selection was made for their remarkably successful Southern comedy drama, which appears at the Opera House next Wednesday evening. The name is "Down in Dixie," and these three words serve as a description worth volumes of printed matter. They indicate a lively delineation of 'He in the sweet-seented South, and to make this delineation as picturesque and interesting as possible the managers have provided a beautiful scenic showing of kandscapes of Georgia and Carolina, with homesteads and cotton fields, and have secured a large number of real darkeys, among them a lot of clever youngsters who constitute a pickaniany musical band. There was an inquiry received here yesterday concerning the family connections of a man who went by the name of William Murphy. The man was perhaps fatally injured at Eagle Mills. Ark. by a log rolling over him, and those who have charge of him write that he said his home was formerly in this city and that he carried insurance. There was some inquiry here and no one seems to know of him. He may be a young man who was called "Bid" Murphy. His name was John, but those who know the circumstances of his departure from this section, are inclined to believe he is the man. If so he has a sister in Benwood and one in Zanesville. The injury to Murphy occurred on Monday.
